Furthermore, each spring unit works independently, resulting in great personal support for my body.

Yes, agree. These pocketed coils also help to reduce partner disturbance during sleep time.

Pocket Spring System

Each spring in the Pocket Spring System is individually encased, enabling it to provide more points of support. As each spring works independently, it will only react to the pressure applied to that area.

It will be an ideal choice if you and partner are with different weight, or you like to toss and turn as you sleep.

This is a mattress that can offer more even pressure distribution, enables a more natural spinal alignment, and perfectly supports your body regardless of your sleeping posture.

Benefits of Pocket & 3-Zone Pocket Spring System

Dreamland's Pocket Spring System are individually-encased coils.

More points of support, thus more responsive to pressure.

A consistent feel and good support.

3-zone pocket springs provide the additional benefit of:

A more natural spinal alignment.

No partner disturbance.

A more even pressure distribution.

Independency leads to no hammocking effect.

Increased spinal support and comfort.
